LEARNING DISABILITIES

"Know How" software is pure educational software — in a word, self-study. Each "Know How" program is, in effect, an electronic textbook on the subject matter reflected in the title. The teaching method, that of "linear programming", reinforces the user and builds on patterns of responses. The text and questions are further enhanced with descriptive diagrams and illustrations as supporting material. Each item in the tutorial represents a short lesson followed by a question and a request for a multiple choice response.

TO USE

To use "Know How" self-study software with your Apple computer, simply insert the floppy disk into the disk drive and turn the computer on. The disk will "boot" itself. Follow the instructions that appear on your monitor screen, type in your responses, and press RETURN.
